

Playing god (ethics)

First things first, it is obvious I am not a God, nor will I be. I never considered the concept of playing God when starting this project.

Excerpt from 2024 January 2nd daily journal entry (seanpm2001 life archive)

I talked about my recent ethics studies for the NUNIX project, and she warned me about playing God, and “God syndrome” which I am going to have to look into. I don’t consider it a bad idea to “play God” I know the technology is going to exist in the future, whether we like it or not, and that the groundwork for making sure the world can handle it is there. We don’t want people like Elon Musk to be controlling people through their mind more than he already is, in fact, the level that he is already manipulating people is unacceptable.
